Profile

A versatile actor with a wide range of professional experiences, who will find a way to thrive in any situation she's put in. A charismatic, passionate leader who builds strong connections and creates space for others to be themselves. Both a deep thinker and feeler and fiercely independent, with a fire and passion which is channeled fully into acting. Full dedication to her projects. Brings discipline, precision, and total commitment to every project, while collaborating openly and joyfully with colleagues and directors. Possess a lot of sensitivity, empathy, perceptiveness, awareness and a vivid imagination. Thrives in dynamic environments and pushes herself to evolve. She has proven that she can balance multiple demanding projects without compromising the quality of her work.

Miscellaneous

I have extensive experience in performing with my piano, from as early as 8 years old. I have studied medicine and psychology and have always worked for multiple disciplines whilst studying. I have published research papers and I have engaged myself in global health politics for years. I have worked in Korea as an English teacher. One of my last jobs was to help mentally challenged children find ways in which they can grow and learn despite their disabilities.

In my time on this earth I have already gone through a lot major life experiences. Mostly very dark and terrible ones, but in healing from them I have made myself to be who I am today. My life experiences have left me with an insatiable thirst to experience life in all its forms, not just survive it. Now I explore the world and myself by taking on many different challenges. From moving across the world and building a new life in a multiple different cultures, to always remaining introspective in order to improve and become more authentic. All of my experiences have finally brought me back to my innate home, acting. My greatest wish is to use all that life has given me to make the art that inspires people to meet their greatest self.
