

Alina Arlee is a European actress, model and creative producer whose screen presence blends sophistication, vulnerability, and quiet intensity.

Has strong background in acting, fashion, modelling, and production management. Having worked on international editorial, commercial, and creative projects, I feel equally confident performing on set and understanding the filmmaking process from a production perspective.

Based in Portugal, she spent more than a decade working in the international fashion and creative industries, collaborating on editorial and visual projects across Europe. This background shaped her strong visual awareness and natural connection to storytelling through image and emotion.

Drawn to complex female characters, Alina is particularly interested in psychological dramas, thrillers, independent cinema, and stories that explore intimacy, power, obsession, and personal transformation. Her work is characterised by emotional authenticity, elegance, and a subtle yet compelling on-screen presence.

Available for film, television, streaming productions, and international co-productions throughout Europe.
